

TWO CHILD/FAMILY FACULTY POSITIONS: The Psychology Department at the University of South Carolina invites applications for two tenure-track positions at the assistant professor level in the area of child and family research. Clinical or community psychologists working in the area of prevention science are strongly encouraged to apply. Potential for extramural funding will be a key consideration among candidates. The successful candidates would sit with the Clinical-Community Psychology program, which is APA accredited and recognized nationally for high faculty productivity. Review of applications will begin October 31, 2008 and continue until the position is filled. Applicants should send a letter describing their research and teaching interests, a CV, and copies of relevant publications (and arrange for three letters of reference to be sent) to Professor Ron Prinz, Child and Family Search Committee Chair, Department of Psychology, University of South Carolina, Columbia, SC 29208, e-mail: prinz@sc.edu. The University of South Carolina is an affirmative action, equal opportunity employer. Minorities and women are strongly encouraged to apply. The University of South Carolina does not discriminate in educational or employment opportunities or decisions for qualified persons on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, sexual orientation or veteran status. The University of South Carolina is the flagship state university (Carnegie Foundation “very high research activity” ranking) located in the capital city of Columbia SC, a growing urban center with a population of about 500,000. Centrally located in the midlands of South Carolina, (a two-hour drive to the beach and to the mountains), Columbia offers cultural, sporting, and recreational activities coupled with a moderate cost-of-living.
