JOB DESCRIPTION

Assistant Professor in Marriage and Family Therapy,
Department of Human Development and Family Studies
Colorado State University (CSU)

Nine-month, tenure-track assistant professor position to contribute to scholarship and graduate education in our award-winning and accredited master’s program in Marriage and Family Therapy and our PhD program in Applied Developmental Science, and to undergraduate education in Human Development and Family Studies (HDFS). This position is designed to expand the department’s expertise in applied developmental science, prevention science, and the promotion of healthy human development. Specifically, we seek a colleague with a substantive research focus in either: (1) Aging families and family caregiving, or (2) Youth problem behaviors or mental health concerns. Required qualifications: an earned doctorate in HDFS or related area; status of or eligibility to become a Clinical Fellow or Pre-Clinical Fellow as well as Approved Supervisor or Supervisor Candidate with the American Association for Marriage and Family Therapy, scholarly publications in the specialty area, strong methodological research skills, evidence of potential to secure external funding for a systematic research program, and commitment to graduate and undergraduate teaching and mentoring of doctoral students. Preferred qualifications: postdoctoral experience or equivalent, experience in conducting intervention research, commitment to multidisciplinary collaboration and research, and ability to advance the department’s commitment to diversity. Individuals interested in applying can view a full version of the position announcement at our website: http://hdfs.chhs.colostate.edu. To apply, submit electronically a cover letter; curriculum vitae; statement of research interests, statement of teaching, mentoring, and clinical supervision philosophy; 3 reference letters, and 3 recent, reprints of peer-reviewed publications to the following e-mail address: CHHS-HDFS_MFT_Search@mail.colostate.edu. Application deadline is November 17, 2014; the preferred start date is August 2015. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled. CSU is an EO/EA/AA employer. CSU conducts background checks on all final candidates.
