JOB DESCRIPTION

DePaul University is seeking a tenure-track, full-time, Assistant Professor faculty member in the Child track of the Clinical Psychology program, beginning in September, 2012. A strong background in research and a cutting edge research agenda are essential. Excellent teaching skills and a commitment to undergraduate and graduate instruction also are prerequisites. Eligible candidates must have a Ph.D. from an APA-accredited doctoral program in Clinical Psychology. Licensure to practice psychology is desired, although candidates who are license eligible and intend to pursue licensure also are welcome. Area of specialization is open, but we are especially interested in candidates with research interests in low-income urban children and/or adolescents; teaching interests in family therapy and/or treatment methods with children; quantitative, qualitative, and/or methodological strengths; and grant-writing experience. The successful candidate will be expected to: (1) teach courses in the Psychology Department's undergraduate core curriculum; (2) contribute to graduate teaching and thesis and dissertation supervision in Clinical Child Psychology; and (3) make distinctive contributions to the scientific literature in Clinical Child Psychology. DePaul University has a diverse student body and faculty. Our program is a recognized national model for diversity training in Clinical Psychology with tracks in Child and Community areas. Members of under-represented groups, including ethnic minorities, LGBT individuals, and people with disabilities, are encouraged to apply. DePaul University is an Equal Opportunity Employer. Salary is competitive. Applications received by October 31, 2011 will receive full consideration, but applications will continue to be reviewed until the position is filled. Please include a cover letter, vita, reprints, and statement of research interests and teaching philosophy. Please have three letters of reference sent to: Chair, Clinical Child Search Committee, Department of Psychology, DePaul University, 2219 North Kenmore Avenue, Chicago, Illinois 60614-3504.
