

POSITION TITLE: Center for Sexual and Reproductive Health Promotion as Director
EMPLOYER: ETR Associates
LOCATION (City, State): Scotts Valley, CA
WEBSITE: www.etr.org

JOB DESCRIPTION

ETR Associates, a private, non-profit, health education organization, is seeking a qualified person to join its Center for Sexual and Reproductive Health Promotion as Director.

Education, Training and Research ETR Associates is a national center for publications, training, research and clearinghouse services in family life, and comprehensive health education, substance abuse prevention, HIV/AIDS prevention and tobacco use education and prevention. ETRs publishing division publishes and distributes curricula, books and pamphlets in these areas for schools, clinics and youth-serving organizations across the country.

ETR Associates is looking for an experienced dynamic leader for the Director position in the Center for Sexual and Reproductive Health Promotion CSRHP. The Director of the CSRHP is responsible for its overall programmatic leadership and management of the Centers seasoned staff and multimillion dollar annual budget. This an exciting opportunity for an accomplished professional in the field of sexual and reproductive health to provide strategic direction and leadership to continue the growth of the CSRHP and represent the Center at the local, state, and national level. The right candidate must have a track record of resource/business development and management of senior staff. This position reports directly to the VP for Program Services and works closely with the VP of business development.

For a full job description please visit www.etr.org